TYPHOID FEVER AT GALVESTON

ADDS TO HORROR OF THE SITUATION

Three Hundred Cases Have Been Reported —The State Board of Health Has Taken Hold of Situataion—Camp Established at Houston for Relief of the Sick and the Destitute.

By Wire to The Telegram

Galveston, Sept. 14.—To add to the horror of the situation here three hundred cases of typhoid fever were reported today. The chairman of the State board of health has taken charge of the sanitary station. General McKibben, commander of the Department of Texas, has ordered that the two miles of wreckage along the beach, honeycombed with putrifying corpses, be fired, despite the danger to the city.

A conference was held at the office of City Health Officer Wilkinson today, at which it was decided to accept the offer of the United States Marine Hospital Service, and establish a camp at Houston, where the destitute and sick can be sent and properly cared for.

Capt. Rich, the engineer in charge of the government improvement on the coast of Texas, after a complete inspection of the government works here, says the jetties are sunk to mean low tide level, but not seriously wrecked, and that the channel is as good as before.

WASHINGTON N. C. BURNED.

The Little Town Swept Away Yesterday. Loss $150,000—The Chapel Hill Fire.

Washington, N. C., Sept. 13—Washington is in ashes. From Water street beginning at the oyster factory up the street a distance of two hundred yards or near to the Crystal Ice Company factory, and from the corner of Water street up Market street to Main street, our town lies in ruin that, have never been surpassed in its history since the civil war, and the property loss far exceeds that of the war when our town was burned by the Yankees, the loss being approximately one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Upon a careful examination it is presumed the loss will far exceed these figures.

The fire originated in Brabble's restaurant about one o'clock caused by a defective stove flue. In a few minutes the building was a total loss and the fire had spread to all adjacent buildings.

The Telegram's special yesterday told of a fire in progress at Chapel Hill. The total loss was about $6000 or $7,000. None of the University buildings were burned.

MR. KING'S CORN.

He Cuts a Stalk From an Upland Field That Breaks the Record For Size.

Mr. John L. King is meeting with so much success as an up-to-date agriculturalist that some of his friends are calling him "Farmer King" He has on exhibition at the Greensboro Hardware Company's store a stalk of corn measuring 8 feet and 9 inches from the roots to the ear. It was taken from an upland field, and had it not been for the drought there is no telling how much taller the stalk would have grown.

Mr. King has 40 acres in corn, and the yield, although cut short by the drought will be great.

He wished to purchase a corn harvester to use in his crop, but his corn is so big that no machine could be found to cut it satisfactorily.

RAIN IS PROMISED.

The Weather Man Says it Will Come Tonight—A Sample Today.

The drought came very near being broken today. About 5 o'clock this morning a light shower of rain, scarcely enough to lay the dust, fell. A few drops have fallen at intervals during the day, while the atmosphere is damp and heavy. The weather man predicts rain for tonight.

In Charlote this morning it rained steadily for four hours.

STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.

Four Persons Dangerously Scalded and a Panic Among the Passengers.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 14.—An explosion occurred on the excursion steamboat Jacob Robinson last night, dangerously scalding four persons and causing a panic among a thousand men, women and children.

The accident happened in mid-stream, three miles above Omaha. The boat drifted helplessly toward the bar down the river, but later the second boiler became manageable and she proceeded to her mooring.

The crew acted bravely and prevented the frightened passengers from jumping into the river.

CARRIED OFF FIVE DOLLARS.

HOW THE HEALER FAKED ONE MAN

He Visited Mr. Oliver's Son, for a "Donation," and Gave the Youth the "Divine" Treatment—Was to Go Again, but Left Town Without Fulfilling His Obligation —The Peripatetic Humbug's Shrewd Game.

As one result of the visit of Dr. Gilbert, the divine healer, to Greensboro Mr. Thomas Oliver, who conducts a bicycle repair shop on East Washington street, is minus the sum of $5 in cash, and in addition to being a fake, the healer is branded as a thief. The circumstance seems to be about as follows:

Mr. Oliver has a 16-year-old son who is afflicted with St. Vitus' dance and some spinal trouble. A great many physicians have attended the youth, but no treatment has apparently benefited him. Hearing of Dr. Gilbert, Mr. Oliver consulted him, partly through curiosity and partly as a drowning match catches at a straw. The long-haired fake assured Mr. Oliver that he could cure his son, for had he not effected thousands of cures more remarkable?

The healer made his first visit to Mr. Oliver's Sunday. He looked at the boy, laid his hands upon him; muttered a few incoherent words and said the afflicted one would be restored. Mr. Oliver paid Dr. Gilbert $4, one of which went to the carriage driver, after which the healer left, saying he would return again.

However, he did not return, nor did the boy show any signs of improvement. Tuesday the father again visited the healer and paid him another dollar, with the understanding that his son was to receive another visit immediately Instead of fulfilling his promise, the great Dr. Gilbert proceeded to gull other people, and the next Mr. Oliver heard of him, he had left town.

In speaking of the matter today, Mr. Oliver said Dr. Gilbert made no charge for his services, but told him, he would expect a liberal donation. This was a great scheme of the healer's. He made no specific charges for practicing, thereby escaping taxation, but he never failed to impress upon the minds of his patients the fact that gifts would be acceptable, and the larger the better. He worked the donation racket for all it was worth.

A LIVING CURIOSITY.

A Horse That Has Not Left His Stall for Fifteen Years.

Attorney O. S. Newlin, who has just returned from Summerfield, tells of a great curriosity he saw near that place In accompany with Mr. J. M. Burton, he visited the place of a Mr. Clark and saw in the latter's stable a horse which has not been outside of his stall for fifteen years. The owner is peculiarly devoted to the animal and cares for for him as he would a child.

The horse is of ordinary size and glossy black in color. Both his mane and tail are very long, the latter reaching to the ground. The animal has never been shod and his hoofs are extremely long, turning up something like snow shoes.

Although offered big prices, Mr. Clark has steadfastly refused to sell the horse.

If the owner could be prevailed upon to allow the animal to leave the stable, he would be a splendid attraction for the Fair.

GREENSBORO'S VOLUNTARY GIFT.

The Telegram Has Received and Forwarded $96.50, and the Knights Templars Have Sent $18—Much More Could Have Been Gotten up if Anything Like a Canvass Had Been Made.

The Telegram has received and forwarded to the Galveston sufferers $96.50. Ivanhoe Commandery of Knights Templars today sent $18. At least $200 should be sent from Greensboro. This amount would have been raised easily if anything like a thorough canvass had been made. The Telegram has been glad to recieve and forward the amounts handed it. More doubtless will be handed in. The need is as urgent as ever. The press dispatches say that up till yesterday approximately $300,000 had been received, and ten times as much would be needed yet. The matter of disinfectants alone is a huge matter. All chemicals of this character in the vicinity have been exhausted. The bodies which were carried out to sea and dumped are washing ashore and must be buried.

The donations so far are as follows, all of which has been forwarded:

Aldermen Meet Tonight.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held tonight. There is no business of special importance to be transacted, unless the waterworks matter should come up. It is hardly probable that any definite action will be taken in this matter tonight. It has been the intention of the Board to have the plant transferred to the city October 1st.

The Horse Thief Bound Over.

A. B. Coleman, who stole a horse and buggy from Wheeler Brothers, was given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon and bound over to court. Being unable to give bond, he was placed in jail. His wife and father were present at the hearing.

It develops that before coming to Greensboro Coleman attempted to steal a horse from a Burlington liveryman

At Greensboro Female College.

The regular work of the fall term of Greensboro Female College commenced this morning. The number of students in attendance at present is 125, of which more than 90 are boarders. Rooms have been reserved for a number who will arrive next week.

The opening is very gratifying and President Peacock says he is looking for a most successful year's work.

Bound Over to Federal Court.

J. L. York, formerly of Greensboro, who was recently arrested in Fayetteville for fraudulently using the mails, has been given a preliminary hearing and bound over to court under a bond of $1,500, which he was unable to give, says a Fayettevile correspondent of the Charlotte Observer.

ENGINEER GRAY'S REPORT

He Shows the Value of the Present Water Plant and Points Out Its Weak Features—At the Time the Works Were Under Construction the City Contained Only a Population of 3,500—A Menace to the Health of the People Using the Water—"The Time Will Come When These Pumps Will Not be Sufficient to Meet the Demands."

Today we publish a part of the report of Samuel M. Gray, the expert engineer, employed by the city to estimate the value of the water works plant. The two sections of the report describing the condition of the present system and the value of the plant are given today. Tomorrow will be printed the section treating of the sources of supply.

We print this report merely that the people may see exactly what Mr. Gray said and may therefore be better able to judge intelligently of the questions at issue.

The occasional stars indicate that some omissions, merely of a technical or descriptive character, have been made. All the essentials, pro and con are given:

The City of Greensboro at the present time is partially supplied with water from North Buffalo Creek by a system of works, owned and operated by the Greensboro Water Supply Company.

The water works were built by the Greensboro Water Company some thirteen years ago under a franchise from the City of Greensboro. Since the original works were completed certain additiitions and changes have been made to the pipe system and pumping machinery. At the time these works were under construction the city contained a population of about 3,500, while at the present time its population is said to be about 13,000.

* * * *

The dam, located about three-fifths of a mile above the pumping station, is a small plank structure, built to divert the water from the creek into a canal leading to the reservoir and settling basin. It is three and one-half feet in elevation above the water surface at the lower end of the canal and is not of sufficient height to be of any value for storage purposes.

The reservoir covers an area of 25,272 square feet, or slightly more than one-half of an acre; it is four feet in depth and will contain 760,000 gallons of water. It was made by excavating the earth, and lining around the outer banks with a brick wall. The top of this wall is five feet above the bottom of the reservoir, or one foot above the water line. The reservoir is enclosed with a high board fence to protect it from animals. In connection with this reservoir is a large basin covering three acres which is used as a settling basin. This settling basin was made in a manner similar to that of the reservoir, except that there are no brick walls or lining, neither is it protected by fencing. From this larger basin the water flows through an open canal, 1,100 feet long and then through a small iron pipe to the pump well.

The pump well is circular, thirty feet in diameter, twenty-four feet deep and lined with a brick wall nine inches in thickness.

* * * *

The average daily consumption of water is said to be 1,000,000 gallons, but during the day time the rate of pumping is 1,350,000 gallons per twenty-four hours.

One of the boiler flues is connected with the small brick stack built near the station, while the other is connected with an iron stack, which should be considered only as a temporary arrangement.

The force main is cast iron, ten inches in diameter, laid from the pumping station to North Green street, a distance of 3,900 feet. From this point to the standpipe the balance of the ten-inch pipe is considered as a part of the distribution system.

The distribution system consists of 16.81 miles of piping (including hydrant connections), ranging in sizes from one to ten inches in diameter. The smaller sized pipes from one to two inches in diameter are made of wrought iron, while the larger pipes, from four to ten inches in diameter, are made of cast iron. There are 130 fire hydrants, and about seventy-five valves and boxes ranging from one to twelve inches in diameter.

The standpipe, or water tank, is built of wooden staves held together with iron bands in the usual manner. It is twenty-five feet in diameter and twenty-five feet high, set on top of a brick tower sixty-one feet in height, or when filled, the surface of the water is 86 feet in height above the ground. The capacity of the tank is 92,000 gallons.

The amount of real estate on the North Buffalo Creek owned by the water company is given as ten acres, including the reservoir property and that on which the pumping station is located, and on Elm street, the lot of land containing 5,500 square feet on which the tower is located. The service pipes supplying the consumers numbering about 500, have been paid for by the water taker and should not be considered as a part of the company's property.

CONDITION OF THE PRESENT SYSTEM.

The reservoir and the brick masonry walls lining the outside banks appear to be in a fair condition, and the reservoir is well protected from the surface wash, but the larger settling basin adjacant to the reservoir needs considerable repairing. The banks are badly perforated with numerous holes made by the muskrats, and a large amount of vegetable matter is seen in and around this basin, giving it an untidy appearance and RENDERING IT A MENACE TO THE HEALTH OF THE PEOPLE USING THE WATER.

The banks of the canal leading from the settling basin to the pumping station are in about the same condition as are the banks of the settling basin. During periods of heavy rains the wash from the surrounding fields bring in more or less material that tends to pollute the water in the settling basin and canal.

The pump well, as far as can be seen, is in good condition, the top being raised above the surrounding ground and covered with a suitable roof.

The pumping station is built on low ground and does not present a very inviting appearance neither has it been kept in the best of repair.

The two steam pumps now in use were installed, one in 1892, the other in 1897. Both are in good working condition and might be expected to do good service ten to fifteen years longer at their present capacity.

The pumps are now running non-condensing, but with surface condensers placed on the force main the pumps could be run more economically in the use of coal, although it would not materially increase their capacities. The capacity of each one of these pumps does not now materially exceed the daily consumption of water, and as the city will increase in population and extend the pipe system the consumption will increase correspondingly so that the time will soon come when THESE PUMPS WILL NOT BE SUFFICIENT TO MEET THE DEMANDS, and have a reserve to provide against accident.

Of the two boilers, one (the Babcock & Wilcox) was originally designed for burning wood and was put in use in 1885, while the other was put in use in 1892. The former boiler has nearly reached its limit of life, while the latter boiler is considered about half worn out.

The ten-inch main from the pumping station to North Green street, is too small to economically deliver 2,000,000 gallons of water, which may soon be required per day. The friction head in the force main while pumping against the standpipe pressure at the average rate of 1,000,000 gallons per Colony to Grow Grapes—The Penitentiary a White Elephant and Wants Money. Insurance Companies Will Come Back Into the State Since the Craig Law Goes.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—News reached here last evening of the sudden death of Rev. Dr. Charles M. Payne, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Washington, N. C. He fell dead on the street yesterday afternoon. For many years he was the pastor at Concord. He was a brother of the Dr. Payne murdered in Lexington by Baxter Shemwell a few years ago.

Gov. Russell respites Archie Kinsauls for two weeks; until Sept. 28. The Governor late last night respited Chauncey Davis till September 28, when he will be hung at Tarboro, for burning the residence of Mrs. Battle.

The South Atlantic life insurance company of Virginia is licensed to do business in this State, C. S. Alston of Henderson being its general agent.

The decision of the judge Purnell that the domestication law amounts to nothing will certainly cause no loss to the insurance department, for the insurance companies which withdrew from the State after the enactment of that law paid to it some $12,000 or $15,000 yearly. So they will probably now return, the State will be a gainer.

The citizens here held a mass meeting yesterday afternoon to raise funds for the Galveston people. Julian S. Carr requested a friend to subscribe $100 in his name.

In the summer of 1878 during the great outbreak of yellow fever at Memphis Raleigh raised $1300 in one day and night by means of a lawn party held in the capital square.

The Victor Fire Company, of Raleigh, won the highest prize last year at the negro fireman's tournament, and this year repeats the victory. This company was organized in 1868, by James H. Jones, who was a servant of President Jefferson Davis. Jones was for many years its foreman. He is now an employee of the United States Senate.

The cotton mill men in this State are greatly puzzled by the situation—to buy or not to buy, that is the question. They are not yet answering it.

The Crop Pest Commission met yesterday at the agricultural building and Franklin Therman, the new botanist and enternologist, reported to it for duty. The commision will soon issue to uninfected nurseries the necessary certificates allowing sales of trees.

The Legislature last year appropriated $50,000 for 1899 and a like sum for 1900 for the penitentiary. All the money for last year was drawn. About two weeks ago $15,000 for this year was drawn, and yesterday an effort was made to get the remaining $35,000. The auditor's warrant was issued, but the treasurer declined to pay it, saying he did not have the money; that on the 1st of October there will be $80,000 interest to pay and December 1st about $110,000 on the pension account; that the money for these purposes is in hand, but is from special funds and cannot be used for any other purposes.

Next Monday about three hundred convicts will be sent from the penitentiary and the railways to pick cotton on the State farms on the Roanoke river.

There is naturally considerable interest in the sort of showing the penitentiary will make at the coming Legislative session, for 1899-1900. The penitentiary is evidently the State's "white elephant." Very little has been heard about it this year, and reference to it have been of the most casual character.

Julian S. Carr is conducting his Senatorial campaign on lines of most amazing activity. He is, in fact, "embignitious." He was here and went to Johnston county to make an address at a veteran's reunion yesterday.

No Democrat can walk through the political "maze" in this State without coming up against the biggest puzzle in it—the Senatorial question. It reaches into even the minutest politics.

Farmers are jubilant over the high price of cotton. It is significant that they talk little about the small crop. They figure that at 10¼ cents on a half (that is their present estimate of it), the price equals 5¼ cents on a full crop, and at the same time there is only half the cost of picking and handling the cotton.

Adolph Kolischer, a German, of Berlin, who was however, born in Austria, was here yesterday, on his way home. He has procured options on lands near Sanford, sufficient for a colony, intending to farm and raise fruit, grapes etc.

Pastor Tripp, of the M. E church at Clinton, was here yesterday, urging the Governor to commute the death sentence of Archie Kinsands, or else to grant another respite. The attending physican says Kinsands is feeble and his wound of the throat healing but slowly. On the other hand it is alleged that Kinsauls is determined to cheat the gallows, and is really starving himself to death.

The Second District Republican Committee met at noon yesterday, taking the place of a convention, and nominated a negro, but not George White, for Congress.

SOLVED THE MYSTERY.

The Sad Search of a Young Lady Into the Story of Her Betrayed Sister.

Salisbury Truth-Index.

Life's history is marked at every turn and corner with the sad, tragic story of a woman's love betrayed and abused. It is a story as old as the world itself, yet women continue to disregard it and men are heedless of the consequences.

Yesterday a young lady of culture and refinement spent the day in Salisbury. One looking at her face might have guessed she carried a story of sorrow in her heart. The young lady in question was Miss Annie Stancill, of Selma, Johnson county, and she has been teaching school in Davidson county for the past year. During that time she was working out a mystery to a sister's disappearance and this is the mystery with its solution:

About five years ago Miss Sarah Stancill, a member of one of Johnston county's best families, went to Davie county to teach school, near Augusta. She boarded with a Mr. Pack of that county, and was seemingly happy with her new surroundings. Mr. Pack had a son—Jesse Pack—a young man of brilliant qualities in some particulars, a cracked-brained character in others. However that may be, the brightest and best of women commit the folly of bestowing their affections on the unworthiest of men at times and this bright young woman fell before this rule of inexplicables.

In short she became infatuated with Jesse Pack. After teaching her term out the young woman returned to her home and Pack went to Wake Forest college.

Last year, however, he taught school in Davidson county near Tyro, and fell in love with one of his pupils—a Miss Koontz, a daughter of one of Davidson county's best citizens. She reciprocated and license was procured. The couple went before a magistrate and were married and the certificate of marriage is now on record at the Davidson county court house.

Shortly after this Pack took his young wife up to his home in Davie county. His path and that of his former sweetheart seemed to lie wide apart. Miss Stancill decided to take an advanced course in some study in New York and made all preparations to leave for that city. She had, in fact, begun her journey and gone as far as Greensboro, when whom should she meet but Pack.

He poured into her ear a tale of undying love, of suffering devotion and told her that he was still waiting for her. The result was that the couple eloped to the West and are still there.

The brave sister of the deceived girl decided to ferret out the matter and yesterday she came through Salisbury with the whole sad story of wrong and deception an open book to her.

She goes back to a suffering family in Selma to relate to them the story of a man's villainy and a young girl's folly. She goes back with no balm for the wounded hearts, but only grief and pain for the betrayed sister.

Mrs. Pack No. 1 is still with her father-in-law in Davie county.

OPENING OF MT. AIRY SCHOOLS.

Everything is Auspicious for the Year and the Session Will Prove One of the Best Yet.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

Mt Airy, Sept 13.—The city graded schools commenced the present session on Monday of this week under most auspicious circumstances and with the largest first day enrollment ever made. The school buildings have been repainted and repaired and new patent desks have been purchased for one of the rooms. The grounds have been greatly improved and beautified, new fences have been built and the surroundings generally improved.

Mt. Airy has as earnest, enthusiastic a school as can be found in the State and the town is a unit regarding the success of the schools. Mt. Airy is to be congratulated upon her excellent schools.

Superintendent Frank Curtiss feels confident that this session will prove one of the best sessions in the history of the school.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run down invalid. Only 50 cents at C. E Holton's drug store.

The emergency bags sent by a church society to Kansas soldiers in the Philippines contained among the necessitities a box of BeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the well known cure for piles, injuries and skin diseases. THE ACME OF PERFECTION

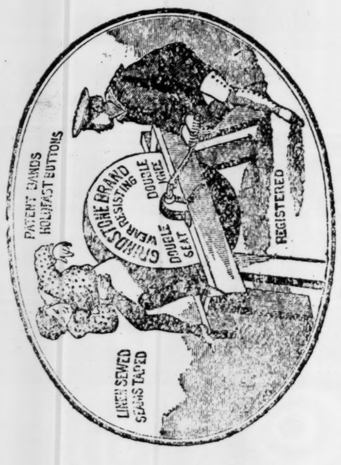
IN BOYS' CLOTHING IS THE

"Grindstone Brand"



Which is superior to any other make on the market. The pants are made with double seats and knees: that is, the material from which they are made is doubled in the seat and knees. The manufacturers of the "Grindstone Brand" do not put in lining and call them double seat and knee pants, as manufacturers of some other pants do. The coat is neat and nobby--double-breasted and square cut. These suits are wear resisting and just the thing for strong, growing manly boys. They will wear longer, look better and give better service in every respect than any other line of boys' clothing made.

We have these suits in all colors for boys from 4 to 17 years of age. Bring or send your boy to us and have him fitted up for the fall and winter. Each suit has a "Grindstone" button in the lapel of the coat and a good knife in the pocket. These are not sold, but given as a present to the boys.

We handle these goods exclusively in Greensboro, and guarantee every suit sold. Remember this.

FRIDAY SEPT. 14, 1900.

MISS JEWETT IN RICHMOND.

There is a fanatical young woman of Boston who has for some time be n attempting a sensational crusade againt what she calls negro lynching in the South. This enterprising young woman is known as Lilian Clayton Jewett. She began her operations by going to South Carolina and carrying the widow of the murdered negro postmaster of Lake City to Boston. It was reported at the time that when Miss Jewett got tired of this venture, the widow was stranded in Boston and anxious to get home.

Miss Lilian Clayton was in Richmond yesterday, where the Colored National Baptist Association was in session. She doubtless went for the purpose of raking off a lot of applause. If so she was deceived, for a committee was appointed to wait on the young lady and tell her not to speak before the convention. The committee did so, and the pastor of the church in which the meetings were held said it had been decided not to even allow her to be introduced to the gathering, for fear she might attempt to say something which should not be said. The pastor made the following public statement:

Miss Lillian Clayton Jewett, the anti-lynching agitator of Boston, will not address the National Baptist Convention, which is now in session in the Fifth Street Baptist church, of which I am pastor. We cannot afford to indulge any one in remarks that would tend to mar the pleasant relations that now exist beween the white and colored people of this city and State.

This so disappointed Miss Jewett that she rose in the gallery before the meeting was adjourned and began an address to "Ladies and Gentleman," in which she said that the convention having refused to accord her a hearing, she would speak outside, even if they wanted to lynch her for it. She left the gallery and began to speak in the yard, which was packed. After her tirade she shook hands all round, the negroes pressing to meet her.

The fact that the leaders of the body were discreet enough to shut down on Miss Jewett is a good omen. The action of the leaders seems to indicate that they are learning that no good is coming to their race by countenancing such performers as Miss Jewett, while the eagerness of the multitude to get near her shows that the great body of the race, in their confiding nature, are yet ready to flock after any kind of an adventuress who desires to prey upon them.

The Telegram makes it a point to give what information it can get on subjects in which the people are deeply interested. Today we print a part of the report submitted by Engineer Gray after an examination of the water works system. The only information of any moment on this whole subject that the people who did not have opportunity to go to the records for themselves, have had, has come through The Telegram. We are here to print the news and the imformation that the people want to see.

Judge Boyd's First Court.

Judge James E. Boyd will preside over his first term of Federal Court in Greensboro, the term opening on the first Monday in October. Clerk Trogden and his deputy, Mr. Blair, are now engaged in preparing the docket.

Not a Safe Question.

Just as the judge was about to put the usual question the clerk leaned over and said: "Don't."

"Don't what?" asked the judge.

"You were about to ask him if he had anything to say before sentence was passed upon him, were you not?"

"Certainly. That is customary."

"Of course it's customary," admitted the clerk, "but don't do it. I happen to know that he is a political spellbinder, and with a big docket of cases demanding attention the time of this court is of considerable value."—Chicago Post.

Quite Enough.

Weary Willie—W'ot would I do if I hed a million a year? Why, I'd spend it, uv course.

Rev. Dobetter—But how?

Weary Willie—Oh, in a thousand ways. In de first place, I should git married, an'—

Rev. Dobetter—You needn't mention the other nine hundred and ninety-nine. That would settle it.—Judge.

The Kind She Wanted.

Gentleman—My wife has lost her waterproof, and she wished me to stop in here and order another sent up at once, as it looks like rain.

Dealer—Yes, sir. What sort, sir?

Gentleman—Um—I've forgotten the name, but it's one of those that make a woman look better dressed in wet weather than she is in dry weather.—N. Y. Weekly.

The Wherefore of It.

"It took my servant two hours today to clear up the lunch dishes," said the lady who was dining out. "Your girl's a jewel. She has the dinner dishes all washed and it's scarcely 15 minutes since we finished."

"Yes," said Mrs. Hauskeep, "she's got this evening off."—Philadelphia Press.

Nerve Enough for Ten.

Ida—I have been reading these nerve-tonic testimonials and I think I will send for a bottle.

May—Do you think there is any faith in those testimonials?

Ida—There must be; they are all from book and life insurance agents.—Chicago Daily News.

Broad Comparison.

"That little Miss Twitters is as dainty as a bird," said Chawlie Jones as he reached for his fifth roll.

"It's a rather broad comparison," said the philosophical boarder. "There are birds and birds, you know—and some of them are sparrows!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Suspicious.

"What makes you think the doctor didn't know what was the matter with you?"

"He didn't tell me to come back in a few days. I think he was afraid it was a severe case of some kind, and wanted to get rid of me."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Accounted For.

Jones—How talkative Henpeque is getting lately!

Smith—Yes; his wife has just bought a parrot. She lets Henpeque talk all he wants to nowadays, so as to encourage the parrot!—Puck.

The Saucy Thing.

"Have you learned," he asked,
"To flirt with a fan?"
"No," the maiden said,
"I prefer a man."
—Chicago Times-Herald.

ASKING TOO MUCH.

Guest—Hi, there! proprietor! there's a chicken in this egg!

Proprietor—Sorry if you're disappointed, but times are hard, and we can't afford canvas-back ducks in the eggs, sir.—Chicago Chronicle.

After His Vacation.

Oletime—One don't read as many jokes as heretofore about the prolific engagements of young women at the seashore.

Newly Wed—No, indeed. They've ceased to be jokes.—Yonkers Statesman.

Skeptical.

She—I don't know what I would not give to have such blonde hair as Irene has.

He—Why don't you find out what she gave for hers?—N. Y. World.

Better.

"You contend that oleomargarine is just as good as butter, don't you?"

"It's better," answered the dealer without hesitation. "It pays several times the profit."—Washington Star.

When All the Links Are Weak, What?

To the Editor of The Telegram:

I saw some days ago some one writing in regard to water works make the often repeated assertion that "a chain is no stronger than its weakest link." It occurs to me that one weak link could be remedied by putting in a new one, but what's to be done when every link in the chain is weak? The only remedy I can see is to throw the chain away and get one whose every link has sufficient strength to answer the purpose for which it is intended.

MARK.

A Great Medical Man Dead.

Charlotte Observer.

Elsewhere in this paper is copied a Philadelphia dispatch announcing the death of Dr. J. M. Da Costa, of the Jefferson Medical School, of that city. He was the preceptor of Dr. Joseph Graham, of this city, in 1857, '58 and '59, and at the same time of Drs. Lindsay and Logan, of Greensboro. His specialty was diseases of the chest, but he was the author of a work, "Da Costa On Diagnosis," which Dr. Graham says has no superior in any language. A few years ago he sent Dr. Graham a photograph which the latter prizes highly. This gentleman says that hardly a greater loss could have befallen the American medical profession than the death of this great man.

Worth More Than Forty Senators.

Charity and Children.

The Greensboro Telegram is doing a noble work in stirring up the minds of our people on the importance of improving our public schools. That is worth more to us than the elcetion of forty senators. If every paper in the State were as earnest in this matter, every boy and girl in North Carolina would be given a chance.

Euterpe Club to Meet.

The Euterpe Club will hold a meeting preparatory to its fall work Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles L. Van Noppen. All members are requested to be present and bring a musical selection with them.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.

ENGINEER GRAY'S REPORT.

day amounts to thirteen feet, or practically six pounds, and when pumping at the average rate of 2,000,000 gallons per day, amounts to fifty-three feet, or twenty-three pounds. With the present pumps it would cost for coal, at $3.12 per net ton, $380.00 per annum to overcome the friction head of forty feet while delivering the last million gallons through the ten-inch force main. The annual cost of coal capitalized at 5 per cent. would be $7,600, and were it necessary to pump on an average 2,000,000 gallons per day from North Buffalo Creek it would be cheaper to lay an additional force main twelve inches in diameter.

The distribution pipe system is made up largely of pipes two small to be of much value for fire protection with the head of water in the present standpipe. Of the total amount of piping in the streets about one half is four inches or less in diameter, the largest size being ten inches in diameter.

The hydrants are all fitted for two lines of hose, but without the steamer connections. They were made by the R. D. Wood Company, of Philadelphia, and are known as the "Mathews Hydrant." The barrel of the hydrant is four inches in diameter, or one inch smaller than the standard size recently adopted by several insurance companies.

The static pressure on the hydrants at the corner of Elm and Market streets near the postoffice, 40½ pounds per square inch, or about one-half of what is considered a desirable pressure for general use in extinguishing fires.

To obtain a static pressure of eighty pounds per square inch, on the hydrants in the business part of the city by direct pumping into the mains, will require 120 pounds pressure per square inch at the pumping station, and 155 pounds pressure while delivering the necessary quantity of water for six fire streams and the domestic supply through the ten-inch force main, a requirement that could not readily be obtained with the present machinery. Six ordinary fire streams will exceed the capacity of the largest pump.

At the corner of Elm and Market streets, with the standpipe full, six good effective fire streams could only be thrown forty-three feet in height through 100 feet of the best quality of 2½-inch hose with one-inch nozzle. If 200 feet of hose were required on each line a height of only thirty feet could be expected. At the north end of Chestnut street one stream through 100 feet of hose could be thrown twenty-four feet in height, and two streams could not be obtained at this point. There are also many other places in which hydrants are connected with four-inch mains where the service would not be good. To obtain even the above results it would be necessary that the full head in the standpipe be maintained.

ESTIMATED VALUE OF THE PRESENT SYSTEM.

In order to arrive at a fair valuation of the present system of water works in your city two methods of estimating the value have been used:

First, That of estimating what it would cost to duplicate the present system of water works at the current prices of labor and material.

Second, That of estimating the value of the system on the basis of its earning capacity, making proper deductions for depreciations and necessary improvements in both methods.

In estimating the value of the works by the first method, namely that of the cost of duplicating the present plant, due allowance has been made for the advance in the price of material during the past year, and deductions have been made for such portions of the works as are of no practical value to the city; also for depreciation of the works, together with what repairs are necessary to put the system in as good condition as when built.

It is estimated, as will be seen by the detailed estimates appended to this report, that it will cost $96,586 to duplicate the present system of works, including the real estate and all necessary expenditures, and that the deductions for small pipes, depreciation and repairs on the system amount to $21,753, leaving $74,833 as the value of the works by this method of estimating.

In estimating the value of the works by the second method, namely: that of its earning capacity, it is necessary to know the gross income together with the gross expenses. These have been given me by your City Engineer as $15,000 for the gross income and $5,000 for operating expenses, leaving a net income of $10,000, which, capitalized at 6 per cent. (this being the legal rate of interest in North Carolina), gives a valuation of $166,667, but as there are certain additions and changes in the pipe distribution system that ought to be made in order to maintain the provisions of the contract, and to obtain better fire protection, the cost of making these changes should be deducted from the capitalized value of the works. It is estimated that these additions and changes in the system will amount to $74,940, including a new water tank set at a higher elevation and a filter plant installed at the pumping station, leaving $91,727 as the value of the works by this method.

It occurs to me that the gross income of $15,000, as given, is excessive, considering the number of hydrants and taps. The income from the hydrant rental could not exceed $4,550, and the income from 500 taps, at an average price of $16 per tap, will be $8,000, or a total of $12,550 which would seem more probable. The operating expenses cannot be far from the amount as given. Any reduction in the gross revenue from that given, will reduce the valuation of the works as estimated by this method.

ECZEMA'S

ITCH IS TORTURE.

Eczema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off; sometimes the skin is hard, dry and fissured. Eczema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes nor other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.

"For three years I had Tetter on my hands, which caused them to swell to twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of running sores, very painful, and causing me much discomfort. Four doctors said the Tetter had progressed too far to be cured, and they could do nothing for me. I took only three bottles of S. S. S. and was completely cured. This was fifteen years ago, and I have never since seen any sign of my old trouble."—MRS. L. B. JACKSON, 1414 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo.

S. S. S. neutralizes this acid poison, cools the blood and restores it to a healthy, natural state, and the rough, unhealthy skin becomes soft, smooth and clear.

SSS cures Tetter, Erysipelas, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum and all skin diseases due to a poisoned condition of the blood. Send for our book and write us about your case. Our physicians have made these diseases a life study, and can help you by their advice; we make no charge for this service. All correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

WINE OF CARDUI

How a Woman Suffers.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 26.
I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.
Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues— despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhœa. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

FOR THE FARMER.

In a wet season only the most carefully constructed stacks will escape without damage to the grain, says a writer in The American Agriculturist. Select a piece of level ground and start the bottom by putting up a large round shock. Increase this until it is the size of the bottom of stack, letting the bundles slant outward gradually, but not so much as to permit any of the heads of grain to rest on the ground. The bottom should be perfectly circular; otherwise a good stack cannot be made. One of the main points is to keep the stack highest in the center and as solid as possible at the bottom. Some make the mistake of piling loose straw in the bottom. This will settle more than the outer layers of bundles and form a depression. The bundles will slant inward and the stack take water.

The bundles, especially in the upper half of the stack, must slant outward. The mistake is often made of keeping the center too high in the lower half of the stack. When the upper part is reached, there will be great danger of the sides slipping out. The center is then permitted to become more flat as the top is approached. At the point where drawing in begins an extra circle of bundles should be laid inside of the outer row so as to make the center considerably higher than the outside. As a rule, the stack should be smaller at the base than the middle. This will cause the outer rows of bundles to slant downward, as they settle faster than those in the middle. The top of the stack need not run to a very high point. Flat tops are, of course, to be avoided, but draw in gradually and do not run up too high. Do not allow one side of the stack to extend farther out than the other or it will lean when finished or will settle to one side and take water if there is much rain.

It is the best to use a fork with a rather short handle in stacking, as the operator can then avoid stepping on the outer rows of bundles, besides making it possible for him to place them steeper and more slanting on the outer row. The center of stack will also be firmer and settle least. The work will be more easily and quickly accomplished than when the operator simply uses his hands.

Selling Hay.

We have heard of a man who thought he was making money by selling his grass standing or hiring it cut and selling the hay, says the American Cultivator. He had what is often called a natural grass farm, moist enough to insure a pretty good crop every year, when in fair condition. For many years he had run it as a dairy farm, keeping considerable stock and manuring his fields heavily. At last old age and a well earned competence decided him to leave the farm, and instead of renting it out for some one else to skin off what he had put on the land he put it all in grass. Then he sold grass or hay, as seemed best at the time, and when the fields began to get thin they were given a very liberal dressing of commercial fertilizer. He said he received more than the fertilizer cost, enough to enable him to lay up more money than he could when working the farm. How long he would be able to do this we do not know, but we think the soil would soon begin to show a lack of humus or some other element of plant food. But if he succeeds according to his plan it will be by reason of the condition of the soil when he began. The large applications of fertilizers would be likely to keep the condition good for a long time. Not every one could do so well.

His Rowing Experience.

A Pittsburg physician who thought of taking his colored servant with him on a projected fishing trip interrogated him as to his acquaintance with aquatics. After a few preliminary questions he asked:

"Have you ever rowed, James?"

"Only on the cyahs, sah."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Too Attenuated.

"I am always glad to have you spend your summers here," said the proprietor, "but I wish you wouldn't bring that greyhound."

"Why not?" asked the astonished guest.

"Because he's such a poor advertisement of this place as a summer resort."—Chicago Tribune.

PERSISTENT ADVERTISING.

From seeing it every day, Mark Twain got an advertisement to "running in his head" like a popular melody and tried in vain to forget it. There are thousands who read all newspaper ads regularly and there are other thousands who are unconsciously impressed by constantly recurring advertisements, so that when they want anything they know where to get it. Persistence always wins.
